[YOUR FULL NAME]

[Include the text of the abstract here. Dissertation abstracts must not exceed 350 words. Thesis abstracts should be limited to 150 words. There must be one overall abstract for the entire work, even if the ETD consists of separate articles. Individual abstracts can be included in addition to, but not instead of the main abstract.]

Chapter 1

INTRODUCTION

Start off all chapters with `chapter`. `\extrachapter` will give you an unnumbered chapter that's added to the Table of Contents. Labeling is also good practice. That way you can reference sections and chapters from anywhere. For instance, I can reference Sec. 1.1 from here.

Here's an example of a citation [1]. Here's another [2]. These will appear in the big bibliography at the end of the thesis.

If you're new to LaTeX and would like to begin by learning the basics, please see our free online course available at:

https://www.overleaf.com/latex/learn/free-online-introduction-to-latex-part-1

You can define terms and/or symbols in a glossary as you talk about key terms in your thesis. So what's a galaxy? These can also include acronyms, such as Low Earth Orbit, which is abbreviated as LEO. You should always define acronyms at the point of first use in the text, in addition to including them in the glossary.
